HEALING THERAPIES

SOUND THERAPIES

SHAMANIC THERAPIES

These drums are made to be used in spiritual work of healing, sound, and shamanic connection.

They are very resistant drums made of mule leather, very resistant and is ideal for cold or humid climates, as it resists much better than other hides.

Its sound is strong and delicate, ideal for maintaining a beautiful connection and vibration for many hours, without losing tension in the skin due to humidity.

They are drums that last many, many years following some very simple care that I indicate.

CUSTOM DRUM

Creative Process

I ask people to tell me what idea they have for their drum, then tell me something about themselves, whatever comes from their heart at that moment. I ask them for a picture of their face and their date of birth.

With this data I can tune the drawing for the person, adjusted to their energy.

SKETCH ON PAPER

If you have an idea in mind you can send me a sketch, it doesn't have to be very detailed, I just need to know the location of the elements you would like on your drum.

FEATURES

The drums are made of mule skin, they are very strong, resistant and resist humidity very well.

Mule skin is much denser and takes longer to loosen. Mule hide is the only one that can be carved without losing sound and not damaging the skin.

The tying of the drum is in the traditional native way and the thread used is a thread with a soul that will never come loose. I don't use leather thread because it comes loose very easily with moisture, which can seriously damage the paint if it comes loose many times.

The wood is light Mexican Pine, thinking of a drum that can be used several times a day in healing therapies or chanting.

This leather is ideal for painting, as it does not undergo so many changes on its surface due to the effect of humidity.

In case of wear, the protective paint can be replaced and the drum paint will last for many more years.

It is a drum that lasts for many years, both the painting and the drum, you just follow the care that I attach to people because it is a very different skin from the others.

We exclusively use thread mooring

- Helps the drum last for many years.
- Maintains a constant tension that helps to take care of the drawing and especially the paint of the drum.
- Sound loss due to humidity and cold is considerably reduced.
- If the drum suffers from excess humidity, the drying time of the drum is very fast, and can be done with a hair dryer.
- It is recommended that you read the drum care instructions to ensure that the paint on the drum lasts for many years.
- On Carved drums the drawing will never disappear, it is recommended to read the instructions so that it lasts many, many years.
- The wooden ring is painted to facilitate entry through Customs in each country.

SHAMANIC CUSTOM DRUM

SHAMANIC CUSTOM DRUM

The skin of a drum is the connection between the person and the earth, so the drum should be made of leather (not plastic).

This quality generates a harmonious vibration where the skin acts as an offering to the great spirit.

The animal in the drum is spiritually elevated by becoming a sacred instrument of healing.

ENERGY EXCHANGE

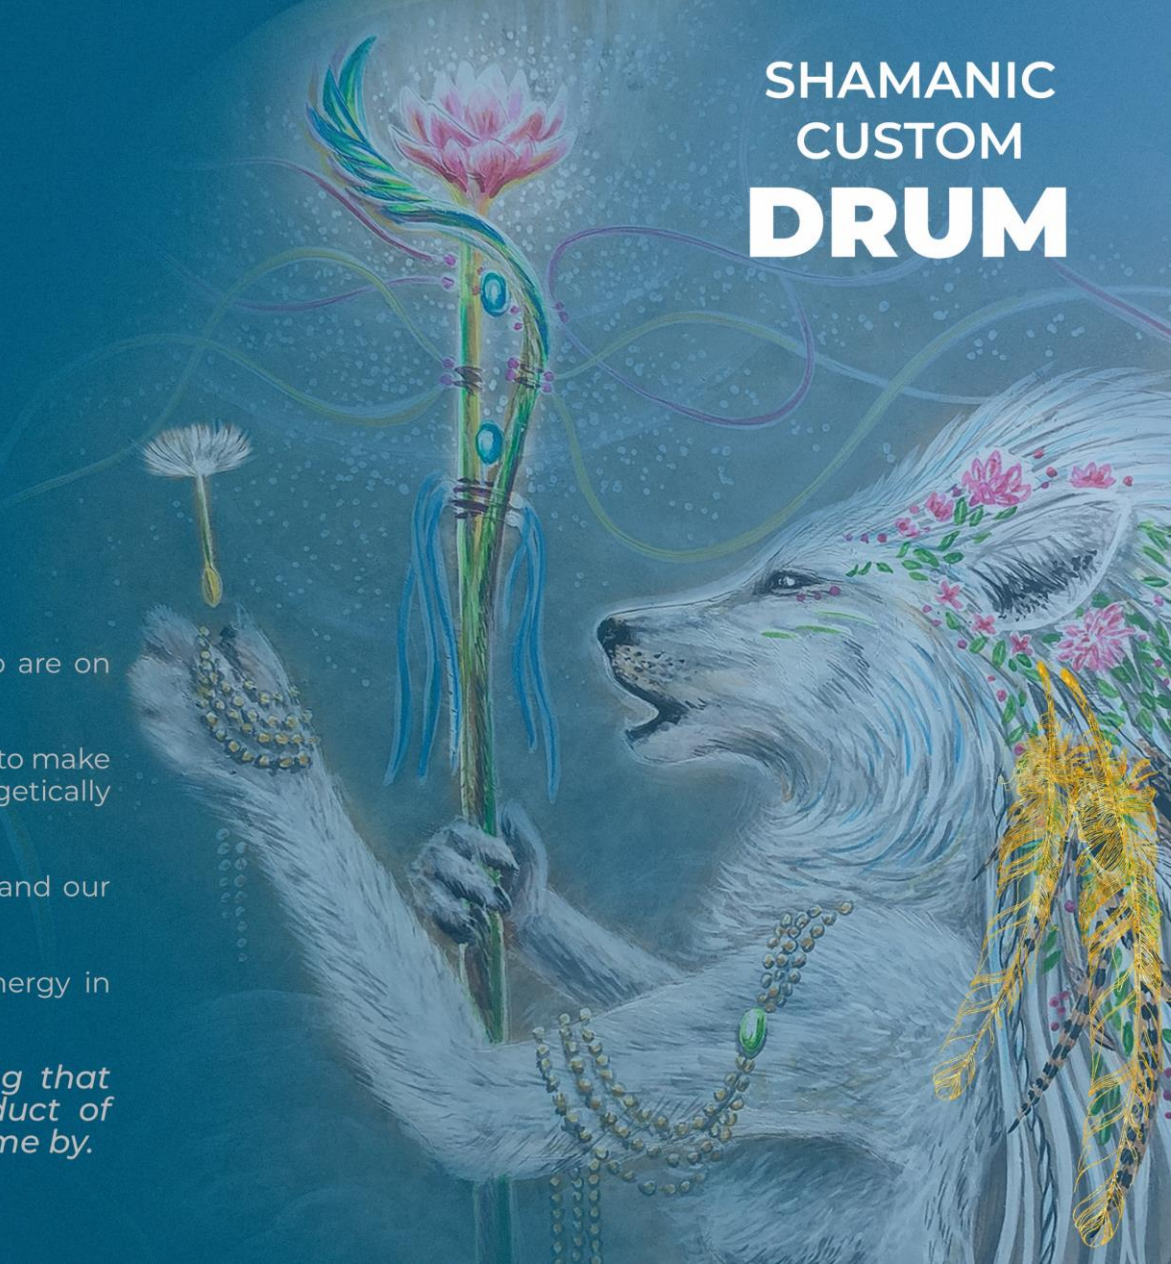

This work is aimed at people who work in healing, who are on their shamanic path or beginning their spiritual path.

In each drum we put many hours of work and dedication to make a drawing and a painting connected to the person, energetically active and with a living message.

We also deposit the warmth of our home, our children and our dreams of change for a better world.

It's a sale, but for me it's an exchange of conscious energy in beings seeking world change.

We also sincerely appreciate the understanding that leather can vary in color because it is a product of animal origin. Mule skin is scarce and hard to come by.

7 Layers of Protective Paint

The drum pattern lasts for many years because it has greater resistance to stick wear.

They are very resistant thin layers, some are to give flexibility and others resistance.

Over the years, when some wear appears on the layers, other protective layers can be replaced so that it continues to last many longer.

DRUM STICK SPECIAL TO PLAY

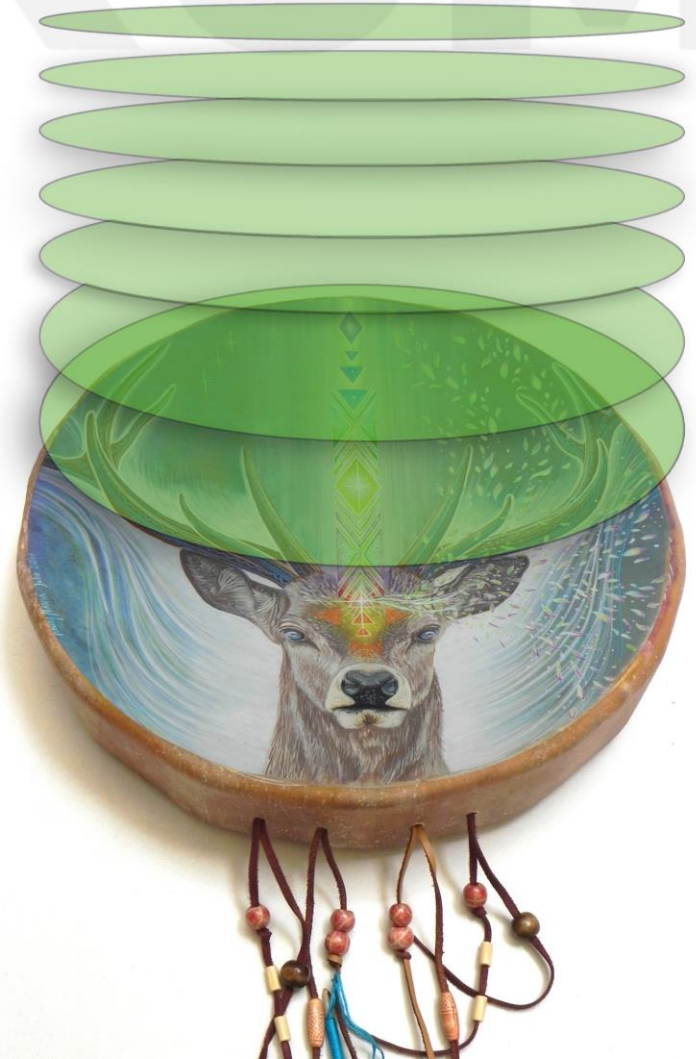

Made of a soft fabric, it helps the protective paint last for many years.

The sound takes on a much softer harmony.

It also has a good weight that helps when playing the drum because the counterweight makes it easy to play without getting your hand tired.

The wood is painted.

ORIGIN OF THE SKIN

The Mule is used and raised as a means of transporting food in remote and mountainous areas.

It is not raised for human consumption as is the case with cows, horses, bulls, sheep, goats, and deer.

OFFERING SPIRITUAL

The Skin of a drum is the connection between the person and the earth, that is why the drum must be made of skin. This quality generates a harmonious vibration where the skin acts as an offering to the great spirit. The animal on the drum is elevated spiritually, becoming a sacred instrument of healing.

Personally, I value and appreciate the life of the animal I work with. With great respect I work on the skin and paint, so that it generates spiritual energy. And that elevates the animal's spirit to higher planes.

It is a sacred instrument of healing.

IN THE FUTURE

Restore the paint.
With constant use over the years, the protective paint begins to wear off.

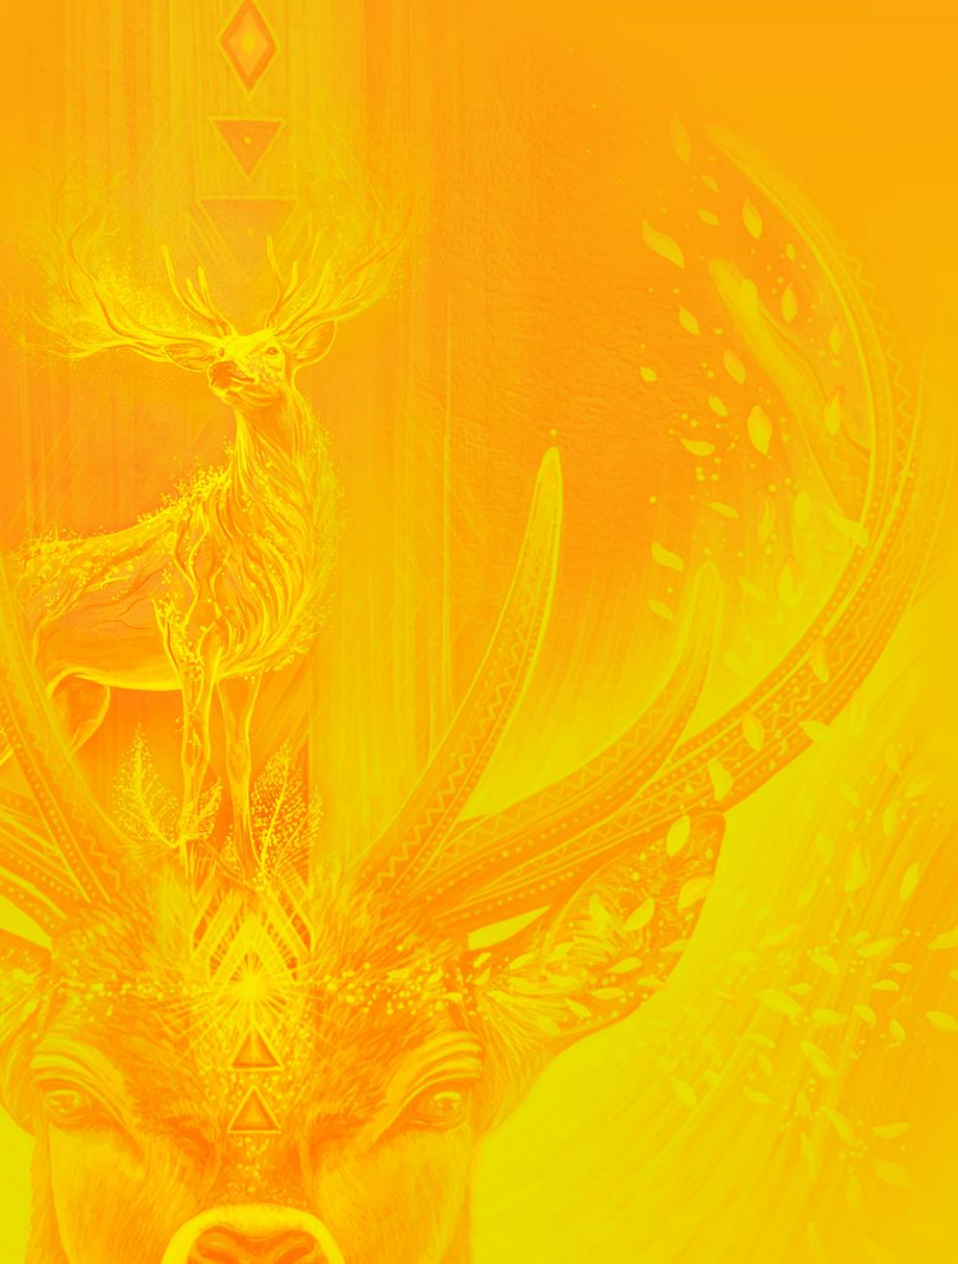

If you start to see that the original paint is being affected, don't worry.

You can write to me and I will tell you what product or paint you can put on it so that you can enjoy your Drum for many more years.

Your Drum for
Many more years.
